

A word from our president

Welcome to the Cape Coral Computer Club. This is the place where people of all skill levels are welcomed, from computer "Illiterates" to certified "Geeks" and all those in between. We come together to improve our mastery of the ever-changing digital world.

To address today's social distancing concerns, we are using Zoom video conferencing. Now our meetings can be conducted exclusively on-line. This means our members are much safer. "Zooming" is the ultimate form of social distancing. Members can now attend and participate from anywhere in the world with a wi-fi connection. They do not have to cope with bad weather, driving conditions or parking. Most importantly our members are more involved because they are actually using their own devices.

As part of our welcome, you can attend your first three meetings for FREE, with no obligation to join. Just fill out the Contact Form found in the "Contact Us" tab. A member will call you to provide all the details and answer any of your questions.

The Cape Coral Computer Club provides a unique opportunity for you to expand your understanding of today's digital world.

We hope to see you soon.
Gary Eidson, President
